HEALTH AWARENESS

Jan Vikas Trust, Ranchi recognizes that health awareness plays an important role in preventing diseases, promoting timely treatment, and improving the quality of life of individuals and families. During the year 2023–2024, the Trust continued its efforts to create awareness about eye health and the importance of regular medical care, particularly among people living in rural and underserved communities.

Through its Eye Care Centre and Hospital, the Trust promoted awareness regarding common eye problems, vision-related difficulties, and the importance of early diagnosis. People were encouraged to undergo regular eye check-ups rather than waiting until their vision problems became serious. The Trust also emphasized the importance of seeking qualified medical advice whenever symptoms such as blurred vision, eye pain, redness, irritation, or difficulty in seeing occurred.

As part of its outreach activities, the Trust organized eye check-up camps in communities where access to specialized eye-care facilities may be limited. These camps provided an opportunity for people to receive basic eye examinations and professional guidance.

Individuals identified with eye-related problems were advised regarding appropriate treatment and, where necessary, referred to the Eye Hospital for further care.

The Trust also spread awareness about preventive eye care practices, including maintaining personal hygiene, protecting the eyes from harmful environmental conditions, following medical advice, and taking proper care of prescribed spectacles or medicines. Special attention was given to elderly persons and economically weaker families who may face difficulties in accessing healthcare services.

Health awareness activities also highlighted the importance of timely treatment and not ignoring changes in vision. Through community interaction, counselling, and health camps, the Trust encouraged people to become more responsible about their health.

By combining awareness with accessible healthcare services, Jan Vikas Trust aims to build healthier communities and reduce preventable vision problems. The Trust remains committed to strengthening health awareness programmes and reaching more people with essential information, screening, treatment, and compassionate support.

EYE CHECK-UPS

During the year 2023–2024, Jan Vikas Trust, Ranchi continued its efforts to make eye-care services accessible to people through regular eye check-ups and community outreach programmes. Eye check-ups are an important part of the Trust's healthcare activities, as early identification of vision problems can help prevent complications and support timely treatment.

The Trust conducts eye check-up camps for people from rural, remote, and economically weaker communities. These camps provide an opportunity for individuals who may have limited access to specialized healthcare facilities to receive basic eye examinations and professional guidance. Beneficiaries are assessed for common vision-related problems and are advised about appropriate treatment and further medical care.

People identified with vision difficulties or other eye-related conditions are guided to the Eye Care Centre and Hospital for detailed examination and treatment. Where required, patients may be advised to use spectacles, medicines, or undergo further investigations.

Patients requiring surgical treatment are also referred for appropriate evaluation and, subject to eligibility, may receive free or subsidized eye operations through the Trust's healthcare programme.

The eye check-up programme gives special importance to elderly persons, low-income families, and people living in underserved areas. Regular screening helps individuals become aware of changes in their vision and encourages them to seek medical advice without unnecessary delay. The Trust also uses these opportunities to educate beneficiaries about eye hygiene, preventive care, regular examinations, and the importance of following medical advice.

Through its eye check-up camps and hospital-based services, Jan Vikas Trust aims to reach more people and provide them with timely and affordable eye care. These initiatives not only help identify eye problems but also create greater awareness about the importance of healthy vision.

The Trust remains committed to expanding its outreach activities and supporting communities in accessing quality eye-care services. Through continued screening, counselling, treatment, and referral support, Jan Vikas Trust works towards reducing avoidable vision loss and helping beneficiaries lead healthier and more independent lives.

EYE CARE HOSPITAL

Jan Vikas Trust, Ranchi is dedicated to providing accessible and affordable eye-care services to the community through its Eye Care Hospital. The hospital plays an important role in the Trust's healthcare programme by providing patients with comprehensive eye examinations, consultation, diagnosis, treatment, medicines, and surgical care. Its primary aim is to ensure that people, especially those from economically weaker and underserved sections, can receive timely and quality eye treatment.

During the year 2023–2024, the Eye Care Hospital continued to serve patients with a focus on early detection and appropriate management of eye-related problems. Patients visiting the hospital were examined and guided according to their individual requirements. Those requiring further investigation or specialized treatment were provided with appropriate medical advice and referral support.

The Trust also connects its hospital services with regular eye check-up camps conducted in rural and underserved communities. Through these camps, people with vision difficulties and other eye-related problems are identified and guided to the hospital for detailed examination and treatment.

This outreach approach helps bring eye-care services closer to people who may otherwise face difficulties in accessing specialized healthcare.

A significant part of the Trust's eye-care initiative is support for free or subsidized eye operations for eligible patients. Many individuals from financially disadvantaged families are unable to afford the cost of eye surgery. By providing necessary support, the Trust helps deserving patients receive timely surgical care and improve their vision and quality of life.

The Eye Care Hospital also promotes awareness about regular eye examinations, preventive eye care, eye hygiene, and the importance of seeking medical attention when vision problems occur. Through counselling and community outreach, beneficiaries are encouraged to take proper care of their eyes and follow medical advice.

Through its hospital services, eye check-up camps, treatment facilities, and support for eye operations, Jan Vikas Trust continues to work towards reducing avoidable vision problems and making quality eye care available to those who need it most. The Eye Care Hospital reflects the Trust's commitment to compassionate service, healthcare accessibility, and community well-being.

FREE EYE SURGERY

Jan Vikas Trust, Ranchi is committed to ensuring that financial difficulties do not prevent people from receiving essential eye treatment. As part of its healthcare programme, the Trust provides free or subsidized eye surgeries to eligible patients, particularly those belonging to economically weaker and underserved communities. This initiative is an important step towards reducing avoidable vision loss and helping people lead healthier and more independent lives.

During the year 2023–2024, patients identified with eye conditions requiring surgical intervention were assessed through the Trust's Eye Care Centre and Hospital. Patients were provided with necessary consultation and medical guidance, and those found eligible for surgery were supported through the Trust's free eye-surgery programme. The initiative aims to reduce the financial burden on patients and their families while ensuring access to appropriate medical care.

The Trust also conducts eye check-up camps in rural and underserved areas. During these camps, people with vision problems are identified and advised regarding further treatment. Patients requiring surgery are referred to the Eye Hospital for detailed examination and appropriate medical evaluation. This process helps connect community-level screening with hospital-based treatment.

Free eye surgery is especially valuable for elderly persons and low-income individuals who may otherwise postpone treatment because of financial constraints. Timely surgical care can improve vision, increase confidence, and enable beneficiaries to perform daily activities with greater independence.

The Trust also provides counselling and guidance to patients and their families regarding pre-operative and post-operative care. Beneficiaries are encouraged to follow medical instructions and attend necessary follow-up examinations to support proper recovery.

Through this initiative, Jan Vikas Trust seeks to make eye surgery accessible to deserving patients irrespective of their economic circumstances. The programme reflects the Trust's commitment to service, compassion, healthcare accessibility, and social responsibility.

By combining eye screening, medical consultation, hospital treatment, and free or subsidized surgery, Jan Vikas Trust continues its efforts to reduce preventable vision impairment and contribute towards a healthier and brighter future for the community
